

The Really Really Busy Person's Book on Marriage

Rob Parsons and Katharine Hill

MuddyPearl

'A successful marriage requires falling in love many times, always with the same person'

That first date, that first kiss, the lingering phone calls – there was a day when wasting time with the most important person in the world was pure joy. You start creating a life together – decorating the sitting room, cooking dinner for friends, going for that challenging new job, and maybe children come along – and you're breathlessly busy. Then one day the dishwasher hasn't been emptied, or someone has said the wrong thing at work, you're tired and stressed and the most important person in the world gets the worst of you.

In this lovely light-hearted little collection of quotes and sayings, Rob Parsons and Katharine Hill capture the pressure points, the highs and lows of domestic trials and bliss and remind us to make the very most of the time we have with the most important person in the world.
